CITIZENS' CAUCUS

Big Time at Firemen's Ball

The first annual old fashioned ball under the auspices of the Norway Firemen's Relief Association held at Norway Opera House Tuesday evening, made a record for large attendance and sociability. Four hundred and more dancers whirled away merrily on the old time contras, waltzes and gallops until intermission, when modern jazz for the younger generation held sway for a time into Wednesday morning. Every seat in the balcony was occupied with many spectators standing.

The attractive decorations about the stage and hall were planned by Ronell C. Bicknell. Flags, bunting and streamers formed the patriotic display with numerous articles from the fire department grouped about the stage. A hundred and more red, white and blue hoops formed the open work drapery effect on each side of the stage opening.

A regulation march and circle was the opening number in which one hundred and twenty-five couples participated. About all the old timers were on the floor, many not having tripped a toe in a quarter of a century. Frank Hurd, Thomas Thibodeau and Frank Lovejoy, the only members in the department who were in Company 1, that gave the last firemen's ball twenty years ago, were present. Several who have resigned since that time attended and made merry with the crowd. "Uncle" John Hazelton of Westbrook was prompter and the crowd were pleased to see him in his old time role.

Excellent music was furnished by an orchestra selected from the Norway and Paris Bands assisted by Mrs. Azola Pike Edwards pianist. The players were: Walter S. Stearns, director and violin; Alfred Otto, violin; Alvin Cote, cornet; Mills, trombone; Howard Shaw, clarinet and saxophone; Ray Newton, flute; Clarence Decoster, bass viol; Harley True, drums and orchestra bells and the pianist. "No need for drawing on the cities for music while this organization exists" is the general comment. They were equally good on the whanging contras or the modern syncopated jazz.

One of the most pleasing features not on the official program was a gift of forty dollars to "Uncle" John Hazelton. "Uncle" John was called to the front of the stage by Hon. Albert J. Stearns, who on behalf of the fire department, the Norway Clerks Association and citizens presented the purse. Mr. Stearns' remarks led the memory of the older dancers back many years when John lived in Norway and was recognized as a dancing master and mighty good fellow. Mr. Hazelton although taken by surprise responded feelingly with words ringing sincere and true. "Uncle" John recently celebrated his sixty-seventh birthday and this was a little present for that occasion.

Ice cream and Eskimo pie were served during the evening with R. C. Bicknell, A. G. Blaquiere, Ed Rich, Fred LaFrance in charge. A check room called money with Merton Herriek, Scott Palmer and Myron Paragard, the handy men in charge.

The large crowd on the floor was handled easily by the manager John W. Lasse with the following aids: Geo. E. Emerson, Osman F. Hill, Arthur L. Gammon, Homer Luck, Harold A. Anderson, Theodore R. Frost, Ernest M. Noyes, Edward L. Burnell, H. Knox Bickford, Harry V. Cole. All are members of the department. Honorary aids were the fire chiefs from surrounding towns. Charles W. Bowker, South Paris; M. A. Jordan, Berne Falls; George Harlow, Bethel; William Walling, Bridgton; Harry Fogg, Auburn; Will H. Emery, West Paris.

Mrs. Harriet G. Twombly

Mrs. Harriet G. Twombly, aged 83, passed away at Augusta Saturday morning and the body was brought to Norway that evening for services and burial. She had been at the hospital since April 30, 1919.

Mrs. Twombly was born in Albany, Jan. 6, 1839, the daughter of John and Dolly Hicks. She married William H. Twombly of Harrison, Aug. 7, 1855, and they came to Norway in March, 1862. BASKETBALL

N. H. S. 65; Mexico High 20. Mexico High School was completely snowed under in a blizzard of baskets at Norway Opera House Saturday evening. Being completely outclassed by the rapid movements of the home outfit, they were able to nose in only at rare intervals. Norway held an undisputed title to the floor and juggled the pill about with little argument to the contrary. Their passing, bearded, the Mexico team and the swift foot work was a caution. A decided improvement in getting a fine range on the baskets was noticeable with a big score as a reward for keener shooting.

Norway opened with speed and confidence and soon pasted up a margin which gained rapidly as the game progressed. Mexico fought pluckily but somehow failed to solve Norway's method of working the sphere to the netted hoop. A little more speed in guarding would have reduced the score somewhat, and kept the ball more frequently in Norway's territory. Mexico's shooting was generally accurate but it was evident a hesitation owing to unaccustomed conditions on a strange surface, kept the visitors from doing their best. Dickson was the high basket man for Mexico while Nevins and Palmer scored heavily for the home bunch.

MEXICO HIGH SCHOOL

NORWAY HIGH SCHOOL

Summary: Score and first half N. H. S. 30; M. H. S. 6. Fouls on N. H. S. 6; on M. H. S. 10. Referee, Austin, Score Raymond Davis, timer A. Klein.

Mexico Girls 8; Norway Girls 4. In one of the most interesting and best played games of Girl's Basketball ever seen in Norway the Mexico team beat the Norway girls, 8-4, Friday evening.

The locals were greatly handicapped by the loss of their captain and star center, Virginia Hall, who was kept out of the game by an injury to her hand. However the substitute centers, Elizabeth Hall and Alice Lewis showed up well against their more experienced opponents.

The Mexico team is fast and has practically the same line-up as last year when it claimed the state championship. The forwards have been shooting from five to twenty or more baskets apiece in all their games and the Norway guards, McAllister and Newcomb played a stellar role in holding them to two baskets each. In fact the Mexico right forward was not at all pleased with the zealous attachment of her opponent. The Norway forwards did not seem to be able to elude the Mexico guards.

Summary: Mexico 8, Norway 4; Goals, Glasgow, 2; Keyo, 2; Hadley, 1. Fouls, Hadley 2, Referee, Miss Longfellow, timer and scorer, Abe Klein. Time—two 15 minute periods.

Legion Carnival and Fair. The American Legion indoor fair and carnival at Legion Hall Friday afternoon and evening was a success in every particular. Five hundred and more attended, with generous patronage at the various booths and games.

The rooms were adorned with patriotic decorations and every "stall" made attractive with a generous supply of flags and bunting. A most attractive place was the Auxiliary booth near the entrance, where homemade candy and chafing dish delicacies were sold. Mrs. Nettie Nevins, Mrs. Mildred Nevins, Edith Knight, Mrs. Elizabeth Perrin and Mrs. Gertrude Hosmer were in charge. The Auxiliary was in charge of the bazaar and was a typical cross roads department emporium with the Imperial Male Quartet as clerks.

Chester Gates was salesman at the blanket stand and handled a large patronage. The fancy work contained many beautiful pieces of skillful needlework and was in charge of Mrs. Hazel Conary, Mrs. Sadie Lapham, Mrs. Annie Prince, Mrs. Pontie Brown and Mrs. Elizabeth Bradbury.

A pet show was an attractive exhibit especially for the children. Rabbits and dogs, parrot bantams, a hawk, two white mice and angora kittens were in the display.

Coffee, hot rolls and frankfurts were served by the Legion boys. Two small boys in Chinese costume told fortunes in a way peculiar to that country.

A free entertainment during the evening was furnished by an orchestra and the Imperial Male Quartet.

The Legion will probably clear about a hundred and fifty dollars.

Pythian Sisters. Lake Temple Pythian Sisters held their regular meeting Feb. 21st with a large attendance. After the meeting

Norway People Come Out as Frankly Here as Elsewhere

Norway people publicly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. This paper is publishing Norway cases from week to week. It is the same everywhere. Home testimony in home papers. Norway people are no exception. Here's a Norway Statement.

M. W. Sampson, prop., boat transportation business, 19 Bridge St., says: "It has been some time since I have used Doan's Kidney Pills, but from past experience I can recommend them to anyone in need of a good, reliable kidney medicine. A cold settled in my kidneys and brought on attacks of backache. I was lame and unable to move any way. The pain in my back was severe. My kidneys didn't act right and I had dizzy spells. A friend who had used Doan's Kidney Pills with good results advised me to try them so I went to Stone's Drug Store and got three boxes. After I had finished taking them the trouble left me and I have been free from kidney disorder ever since."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Sampson had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

GREATLY ENLARGED

Scope and Activities of State of Maine Publicity Bureau Much Increased. Several Prominent Organizations Now Back of It. Managed by Committee of State's Leading Business Men.

It was announced today that the scope of the State of Maine Publicity Bureau had been greatly enlarged, and would now include not only the recreational and vacation advantages, but the publicity would also set forth the State's natural resources, its agricultural and industrial opportunities and present commercial developments.

The Bureau is now backed by the Maine Automobile Association, the State Chamber of Commerce and Agricultural League, the Maine Hotel Association, transportation companies, and local Chambers of Commerce.

The present activities of the Bureau are in charge of an executive committee from the board of directors due to the resignation of Halbert P. Gardner, who has been acting as its executive secretary.

The new headquarters of the Bureau, until a permanent location has been secured, are at 270 Middle street, Portland.

The budget requirement, under the enlarged program, is now $75,000 a year for a three-year period. This enlarged program will obviously do away with unnecessary duplication and expense of publicity work.

The present revised program of the Bureau is as follows:

1. It co-ordinates every interest to advertise Maine, its recreational advantages, natural resources, agricultural and industrial opportunities, and present commercial developments, with the object to interest the tourist public in Maine as a recreational center, to develop its industrial and agricultural possibilities, and to call attention to Maine's commercial activities.

2. Literature descriptive of the recreational attractions of the State, lists of hotels, garages and such other information valuable to the tourist, compiled and distributed. A survey of industrial opportunities throughout the State of Maine, made in co-operation with the State Chamber of Commerce and with local Chambers of Commerce. Comprehensive lists of available farm lands, secured together with information relative to markets, freight rates, etc. Classification of commercial enterprises compiled and distributed.

3. Development of certain standards of service to tourists. The central information bureau acting as the medium in adjusting complaints of unfair treatment, or unjust charges. Membership display signs or certificates issued.

4. Central information bureau established in Portland for general distribution of every kind of information relative to Maine. Sub-offices or stations of information at main points of entry throughout the State or wherever advisable. PHINEAS' PHILOSOPHY

By Wm Kimball

"Speaking of Society"

There is all kinds of society these days, high, low and medium, take yer pick. The lounge lizard pick at the high, the rest of us pick at each other all except those that are in jail. They have been picked early. Since the war most all humans have been more so-called to each other cause they had to be, with all the ladies knittin' of high and low degree. Now that they have got the boys back, those that are able to work, go to work to help pay for their Govt. insurance on those that can't work are hanging around the Hospitals waitin' for Govt. aid. They had a lot to say about "First Aid" to the injured but the Govt. hasn't seemed to get as far as the first aid, they is gettin' near the starvin' line waitin' for some one to take down the Red Tape so as they can get started.

No man ought to be without some kind of a button that he can wear on his coat lapel now that there are so many society's an clubs. The reason that the copper mines worked over time, right after the war, was because the Govt. needed so much of the metal to make honorable menshun medals for the stay-at-homes who so valantly fought the enemy on their home grounds.

I figger that those that wear the most medals on their coat are the ones that only got a smell of powder when their wife was gettin' ready to go out. All the girls yung an old seems to have got this war spirit an have been keepin' it up judgin' by the amount of powder that they are still usin, the kind that comes in tin cans with a sifter top.

Yours trooly,
Phin.

His Price

Five of us were mired on a clay road in Michigan when a resourceful young man in the party threw a cock of hay over a neighboring field fence to stuff under the wheels, writes a correspondent. It was no sooner in the road than a big farmer came charging out like a mad bull roaring threats to phone ahead and have us all arrested. He could have done it, too, for we could not have scattered immediately. I had visions of country justice and delays, so instead of letting some of the crowd go to the mat with him, I asked the farmer how much he wanted for his hay, expecting to pay my share to the last dollar. We nearly faintd when he cried in a voice that seemed half a mile "10 cents!"

"Winter days invite your Kodak"

Snow-shoeing, skating, tobogganing, hiking—every pursuit that takes people outdoors during the cold months becomes more enjoyable if there is a Kodak in the party.

Norway,

Truth is Mighty and Shall Prevail

The universal popularity of Studebaker Cars is attested by the fact that the corporation enjoyed the biggest business in its history in the year of 1921.

The sales of Studebaker Cars were 29 per cent greater than in 1920, notwithstanding the fact that the total number of cars sold of all other makes (except Ford) was 40 per cent less than in 1920. Stated otherwise, Studebaker's ratio of sales was 129 and the total of other makes 60, as compared with 1920.

The number of Studebaker Cars sold in the year of 1921 in both Greater New York and in the Metropolitan District exceeded the sales of any other make except Ford.

Studebaker is the world's largest producer of six-cylinder cars.

The only possible explanation of the popularity of Studebaker Cars lies in their quality, durability and dependable performance in users' hands. Proof that the cars stand up in service with minimum repairs is evidenced by the fact that our sales of Repair Parts in 1921 were 12 per cent less than they were in 1919, notwithstanding that 118,000 new cars were sold and put in operation in 1920 and 1921. Based on the total estimated number of Studebaker Cars in operation in 1921, we sold $16.00 worth of parts per car for repairs from all causes, including accidents.

The material and workmanship in Studebaker Cars measure up to the highest standards known to the automobile industry. Substantially better intrinsic values cannot be obtained at any price. The theory that high prices necessarily mean fine cars is fallacious, simply because prices are not based upon intrinsic values but upon production costs of individual makers, which vary widely according to their ability and manufacturing facilities. Obviously, high costs of production, inevitably arising from incompetence or inadequate manufacturing facilities, mean not only high prices but actually inferior cars.

With $70,000,000 of actual net assets including $36,000,000 of plant facilities, Studebaker stands unsurpassed in ability and resources to manufacture economically and give the greatest intrinsic value possible for a given price.

OUR BLUE JAYS

Do you know a blue jay when you see one in the trees? They are a little larger than a robin and have lovely blue feathers and a little bounce on their head that they can raise or lower at will so you would not notice it at all.

Do you know what blue jays like to eat? They will eat bread crumbs, but like better to get a peanut. There are a pair of blue jays that have been coming to our kitchen window for years. Not every morning do they come, but real often. They will come and sit on the limbs of the trees opposite the window and keep calling "Peak, peak, peak."

If we did not answer they would call many times and fly toward the window to attract our attention. Finally we raise the window and put a peanut on the sill inside the window so the blue jay will have to come inside to get it. Leaving the window open, we stand close and watch them come and take the peanuts. Very soon they learned to come in the window and take peanuts and fly away.

As we watched them sometimes they would take one up in the tree and hold onto it with their claws, would pound and pound and pound with their bill until they cracked the shell and then proceeded to eat it. Again and again they came, first one and then another. After they got all they wanted to eat, they still continued to come, seemingly just for fun, and got the peanuts and proceeded to bury them in the ground. They were very clever at that. They poked them down into the ground with all their might, and carefully lift the blades of grass and around it so it will look undisturbed, and then they fly back for another. They never seem to tire of gathering them.

One day there seemed to be more noise from them than usual, and on looking out, we saw not only the two old ones with their beautiful blue feathers, but four young ones that seemed to be almost as large as the old ones. But their feathers were rough and they seemed shy, although they would follow one of the older ones, up to the window and get a peanut. The older ones seemed to say to the younger ones, "Children, we have brought you to our friends and you need not fear them, and they will feed you with peanuts whenever you come and they are at home."

We keep a little dish of peanuts on the window-sill all the time so they will be ready when they come. We enjoy feeding them. Boys and girls passing on their way to school often stop and enjoy watching them with us.—Our Dumb Animals.

FARM BUREAU NOTES

Central and East Oxford Dairy Testing Associations are making plans for three big meetings to be held the early part of March. An important feature of these meetings will be the showing of 30 lantern slide pictures relating to test work and records.

The Oxford County Farm Bureau has just purchased a portable stereopticon machine for use in visualizing important features of the work being carried out in the county in the various projects.

Perhaps the most valuable part of the meetings will be the discussion of the nine months' records of the East Oxford association. R. F. Talbot State Extension Instructor in Dairying has made a careful study of the records and he is coming from Orono especially for these meetings. He will have some valuable pointers to give the dairymen.

Central Oxford association including Waterford and Paris will hold its meeting at South Paris, March 8. East Oxford has planned to meet in two sections, at Canton March 9, and Buckfield the 10th. This will enable more dairymen to attend.

County Agent Lovejoy has in view the organization of two additional associations in the county this year, one to include the communities of Woodstock, Bethel and Rumford, and another to include the extreme western part of the county.

"ALL OUTDOORS"

About this time, appear the new seed catalogues to add a touch of color to the wintry landscape; with their bright covers and colored pages of flowers and fruits.

Now is a good time to choose your seeds and plan your posy garden, for next summer. For it is well worth while to have a posy garden, for the sake of getting acquainted with Sir Ruby Throat that tiny cluster of feathered gems; Rubies, Emeralds and Jet.

Rubythroat is a sociable little fellow and will meet you more than half way if you but give him a chance. He is very fond of the nectar of nasturtiums and never fails to stop at "the Sign of the Tiger Lily," for a sip of red wine.

One summer morning while gathering a bunch of nasturtiums, I was attracted by the humming of a Ruby-throat and looking down the row of plants, I spied him coming my way sipping the nectar, first from one flower, then from another and passing some altogether. I had a large bouquet of the flowers in my hand and kept my stooping posture as he approached. In a few moments he came to my bouquet and there, less than a foot from my face, I had the best chance of my life to watch him in his natural state. How vastly different from a stuffed specimen, did he appear!

Full of life and motion, his colors flashing in the sun, his eyes sparkling, and the music of his wings, held me entranced. His throat appeared as a live coal of fire. He would run his long bill into the flowers, gathering what he wished from each, then back away a little and eye me for a moment, then dip into another flower until he had inspected my bouquet as much as he wished, then on down the row about his business, never once showing the least sign of alarm.

I felt as though specially favored by Providence, that beautiful Sunday morning. I have heard it remarked that the humming bird is the only bird that can fly backwards, this little fellow could reverse his propeller very quickly and neatly.

Last summer while trimming young beech trees, a female humming bird lit on a branch of the tree I was working on and quite close to me. I held my saw in the half severed branch and watched her. She would turn her head and look at me, then take a birds-eye view of the landscape, then look at me again, but showed not the least sign of timidity, but acted as though she had just dropped in to make a morning call. I wish she could have known how glad I was to see her. She finally flew toward a large pitchpine, but I did not see her alight, however, I suspect she had a nest near by. I have yet to find a hummer's nest; but that is something to look forward to. How such tiny stinging life can migrate over two thousand miles, each spring and fall, is one of nature's wonders.

Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Jasper, Minn. — "I saw in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took it because I was having such pains in my stomach and through my back that I could not do my work. I had tried other medicines, but none did me the good that your Vegetable Compound did. Now I am able to do all my work alone while before I had my daughter staying at home to do it. I have told a number of friends what it has done for me and give you permission to use my letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. JESSE PETERSEN, Route 1, Jasper, Minn.

There is no better reason for your trying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound than this—it has helped other women. So if you suffer from displacements, irregularities, backache, nervousness or are passing through the Change of Life remember this splendid medicine. What it did for Mrs. Petersen it may do for you.

The Vegetable Compound stands upon a foundation of nearly fifty years of service.

During the past few months and especially during the recent term of the Supreme Judicial Court, I have been repeatedly and earnestly solicited by friends throughout the County of Oxford to become a candidate for the Republican nomination for County Attorney. Norway and Vicinity (Continued from page 1)

Gatherings at St. Petersburg
The Norway people who are wintering at St. Petersburg, Florida, seem to be having a gay time and several parties have been in order the past two weeks. Mr. and Mrs. S. I. Jackson of Millettville, Norway, who are spending their second winter in Florida, entertained at their winter quarters at 628 5th Street, North, at 500, the Norwegians who are there. Although it was a progressive game, Mrs. Charles G. Blake won the lady's prize of a bar pin set done in gold wax de luxe with Florida roses in shades of pink. Mr. Blake was high gentleman, winning a necktie clasp done in black wax de luxe with the Florida pine cone and needles in bronze and green. The other players were consoled with the score cards as souvenirs, decorated in one corner with the same Florida roses and in the other with the Cachina shell butterfly, and 500 in gold figures in the center, all the hand work of Mrs. Jackson.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake, with real home grown orange juice and grape fruit punch were served. Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Noyes entertained the Norwegians at a dinner party at the Park Cafeteria Tuesday, February 21 at 7 p. m., at a private table. The decorations were roses and lilies with fine form at each end of the table. A Florida menu of Spanish proffed mackerel with lemon garnish, baked sugar yams, tomato and lettuce salad, hot rolls, mimes apple, and butterscotch meringue pie with ice cream, coffee, tea or milk, was served. Reminiscences helped to quicken the appetites of all. After dinner the party were invited by Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Blake to a Washington's Birthday Party where Mrs. Blake read an original poem, "A Tribute to St. Petersburg," and for an encore, "A Tribute to Norway," the home town. There was a large gathering at the hotel. Those in the dinner party were Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Noyes, Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Blake, Mr. and Mrs. S. I. Jackson, all of Norway, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Clark formerly of Bolster's Mills and Mr. Caswell of Harrison.

Methodist Church Notes

Plans for the Men's Supper and entertainment are going forward, which promise to make Tuesday evening March 7th, a red letter day in Norway church events. An excellent supper, with all the favorite dishes for such occasions on the table, will be served at 6:30 p. m. in the Community Hall. After the supper an entertainment will be given in the auditorium. Alice Bonney-Record of Auburn, who has delighted Norway audiences before with her readings, will have a leading part on the program. Mr. Alfred Cota of Paris, violinist and interesting local talent will assist in giving an evening of rare pleasure to those who attend.

Rev. C. L. Whiston received a cordial welcome last Sunday and gave very helpful addresses at both morning and evening worship. An exceptionally large number were present at the Epworth League service.

Thursday evening of this week will be observed with the Holy Communion, marking the second day of Lent which began with Ash Wednesday, March 1st.

Next Sunday the pastor, Rev. T. C. Chapman, will preach at morning worship from the topic, "The Pentecostal Church for Today." The evening subject will be "The Lenten Test."

The Official Board are making plans for the annual canvass for funds for the local church expenses and for the benevolences. Every member of the church and its constituency should be informed concerning the needs of the church if it is to fulfill its obligation to the community as a whole. The community already receives more from the churches than from any other organizations or forces among us—much that it receives can come from the other source than the churches. The more the people are willing to become business partners in church work, the larger dividends of needed and helpful service will be available for those we serve.

WOULDN'T TAKE A FORTUNE FOR THE GOOD IT DID

"The Value of Tanlac Can't be Measured in Dollars and Cents," declares Reed.
Twelve Years of Broken Health Repaired and He is on Job Every Day.

"The good Tanlac has done me couldn't be measured in dollars and cents. It has just made a new man out of me," said Wilfred E. Reed, Sabattus, Me.

"I had been in broken health for some twelve years or more and was steadily losing ground. My health finally got so poor that I would have to lay off work sometimes as long as a month. I was very much alarmed about my condition and was convinced I had just about reached my limit of endurance.

"Fortunately for me, Tanlac was just what I needed. It put me on the road to health almost from the first dose. It gave me new life and energy and I am feeling fine now all the time."

BEDSTEADS THAT SAVE SPACE

Three-Story Sleeping Places Are the Latest Idea to Be Placed on the Market.

Two-story beds, that is to say, bedsteads containing two beds placed one above the other, have been in use for years, but something rather novel in this line is the three-story bed, containing three beds, one above another, which was placed upon the market not so long ago.

These bedsteads, which are made entirely of iron, are so constructed that they can be knocked down to occupy comparatively small space for convenience in handling in shipment and transportation, the three-story bed separating into five parts, the head and foot sections and the three beds, each bed section having a wire mattress permanently attached to the side and end pieces.

At the ends of each mattress frame are pins that fit into slots placed at suitable heights up the head and foot pieces. To set up a two or three-story bed one simply stands up the head and foot pieces and drops the pins on the mattress frames into the slots and there is the bedstead with its wire springs in each tier ready to receive the mattresses.

Bedsteads of this sort are intended for camps, apartments, steamers or wherever the floor space is limited.

TOKEN OF THEIR GOOD WILL

Soviet Government Made Present of Entire Train to Americans/Whom They Expelled.

When the soviet government took control in the Urals, writes French Strother in the World's Work, the workmen at Kyshtim organized their soviet. They waited on the American staff at the mines and said they were sorry, but a new day had dawned, in which the workers would be able to own and operate everything themselves. Regrettably, because they liked them, they would have to send their American friends away. The day of their departure arrived and the workmen and their wives and children escorted the staff, as a guard of honor, to a special train which they had provided to take them away from Kyshtim. The train was decked with flags and loaded with flowers and delicacies. Just as it was about to pull out, amid the friendly shouts of the newly enthroned proletariat, the leader of the soviet in great excitement called the senior American back to the platform.

"I almost forgot to tell you," he gasped. "The special train—don't bother to send it back; it also is a present from the soviet to our good friends the Americans."

European Airplane Service.
Two Danish airplane companies have made application to the Danish government for permission to establish a regular passenger and mail service by airplane between Copenhagen and Warnemunde, Germany.

The shortest and most used passenger route from Copenhagen to Berlin is by way of train to Gledser, Denmark, and then by rail to Berlin. At present practically all of the Scandinavian and Baltic passengers and mail traffic to Germany is carried over this line, and during the last few months all trains have been crowded and the airplane service if established it will operate in co-operation with a German company, which will establish a regular service between Warnemunde and Berlin.

A man deliberately makes a fool of himself and then says it's a cruel world. The world gets blamed for a lot of things it never dreamed of.

SCOREBOARD IS HIS DIAMOND

Most Hopeless of Fans 'Is the One Who Can Enjoy Game Without Seeing It.

We never see him at the game, not even in the bleachers. He stands before a checkered frame with scores of fellow creatures. He cannot hear the crack of bat or see the rival fingers, but yet he visions all of that as on the curb he lingers.

He cannot hear the batters "beep" or hoot in wild derision, nor can he raise a cry of "thief" when puffed at some decision. He cannot watch, with features set, his diamond gods embattled; he cannot start a din to get the other twirler rattled.

But yet he groans or whoops with joy, looks glum or starts to grinning, when now and then the office boy chalks up the latest inning. The board dissolves before his view as do the street and alley and fancy speeds him quickly to that dear old Rainier valley.

In fancy he is, with the birds that perch upon the railing, with "empties" and assorted words the robber "umps" assailing, and though the scoreboard's potent dope portends a sad disaster, he sticks around in dogged hope his heroes yet will master.

Most anyone can be a fan who owns a season ticket; it takes another sort of man to be a scoreboard picket. He swarms around the boards in packs, he's not aloof or clammy. If he were charged a sidewalk tax how soon our debt would vanish.—Carlton Fitchett in the Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

LAND WAITS ON RECLAMATION

Water and Modern Methods Will Make the Desert of Turkestan Bloom Like a Garden.

Turkestan is, of course, primarily agricultural country, and cotton, the major crop. The other industries still await development. There is a tremendous field for the cultivation of vineyards and rice and other cereals. At the same time, the development of agriculture will greatly stimulate the sheep-raising industry, which is now in the hands of primitive natives, untrained in modern methods. The fruit industry awaits the guiding hand of modern science. With the help of California specialists, Turkestan could be transformed into an enormous fruit garden. There is at present only one factory for fruit preserving. Similarly, the fish teeming in the lakes and rivers need only the introduction of modern industry to place them upon the food markets of the world. The silk industry, if properly organized, would easily become one of the most important in the world. The mountains of Turkestan are rich in unexploited minerals. Gold, iron, copper, coal and many rare and precious stones and metals await the pioneer.

There is an old legend in Turkestan that the Eden of the first man was placed in the valley of Ferghana, and that for his sin Allah laid a curse upon the country and transformed it into desert. The quickening touch of water restores the desert to richness and fertility surpassing all legends. Who will build Eden anew?

Jason a Legendary Character.

Jason was the leader of the Argonautic expedition in Greek legend. The equivalent of his name in Greek is the healer or atoner. Jason was tutored and brought up under Chiron, a Greek myth renowned for his wisdom and skill in medicine, hunting, music and prophecy. Jason's greatest exploit was his expedition with the Argonauts in quest of the Golden Fleece. Jason secured this by the aid of Medea, a sorceress who fell in love with him. She protected him from the bulls breathing fire and hooved with brass which he was obliged, in order to obtain the fleece, to yoke to the plow. She also protected him from the armed men who sprang up from the dragon's teeth which he was required to sow in the fields. Medea fled with Jason and the fleece and married him. Ten years later Jason abandoned her after she had murdered Creusa, whom Jason had determined to marry.

Domesday Book.

Domesday Book, or Doomsday Book, is the ancient record of the survey of most of the lands of England made by order of William the Conqueror under special commissioners about the year 1086. It consists of two volumes, a large folio and a quarto, and gives the name of every proprietor of land and the extent of his possessions. All of England, except Northumberland, Durham, part of Cumberland and part of Westmoreland, was included in the survey. The Domesday Book was formerly kept in the chapter house of Westminster, but is now in the public record office.

Taxes were levied by this book until 1522, when a more accurate survey was published at national cost in 1783, in two folio volumes. Two supplementary volumes were published in 1816.

JOSEPH ANDREWS' MAINE VISIT

Dear Advertiser: The winter of 1886-7 that I spent in West Fryeburg, Oxborn Charles owned and operated the mill at Ballard's Brook, and his two attractive daughters attended the West Fryeburg school. Several years before on one of my visits to Fryeburg I visited at the mill attracted there by the report that Mr. Charles had a large American eagle in captivity. The eagle had been shot at and wounded in the wing, and was confined in a small out house. Though wounded, and a prisoner, he was a fine specimen of his kind, the War Eagle of America. For the last six or seven years Lloyd Stephens has owned and operated the mill. He has made valuable improvements to the mill, which is now a steam as well as a water power mill. He has built a large and commodious house and has a fine home. His family consists of his wife, nee May Andrews, and daughter Lillian.

I enjoyed a pleasant over Sunday visit with the family. Five years ago I got a picture of the house, mill and Kearsarge in the distance. The saw mill with its various attachments does good work, gives employment to several men, and is one of the leading industries of West Fryeburg.

The farmers in this part of Fryeburg went on a strike last spring and refused to plant sweet corn at the price offered by the packers, with the result that both the packing houses at the village and the harbor were idle all the year.

Henry Andrews told me of an amusing and rather exciting bear hunt he and others had at the mill 18 or 20 years ago. The mill has burned down twice at least. First in 1893 and again in 1903. The last time it was immediately rebuilt by the patrons of the mill who turned out in force and volunteered to give their labor.

Henry was working down below, when someone called out that a bear was swimming across the mill pond and headed directly for the mill. All hands gathered along the shore armed mostly with handspikes. No one had a gun and but one man an ax, and he was in the wrong place. The bear kept edging along the shore looking for a landing place. He made his first attempt at the mill in front of Henry, who brought his handspike down with all his might on the brute's head but did not phase him, but turned him up stream a few rods to where Charles stood with upraised peavy, for a handspike which he brought down with all his might on the bear's head but failed to stop him as he brushed by him and made for the tall timber, probably with a bad headache. Henry said that the bear was old and gray, and that either he or Charles had had the ax they could have split the bear's skull open as he crawled out of the water with his head soaked hide. Charles said that his first impulse was to grab the bear by the long hair on his rump and try to hold him. Lucky he did not make the try. If he had he probably would have found it the worst boxing match he ever staged.

On July 25th, Henry took me out to Alvin Head's in Chatham, the place where I was born January 11, 1844. The immediate attraction that took us there was a pet fawn which Mr. Head has in a small enclosure close by the house. About two years ago he chased it to run across a little half starved fawn evidently deserted by its mother. The poor thing was nearly dead from hunger but he took it home and with the aid of a nursing bottle and plenty of fresh milk, nursed it back to health and strength. It is now nearly a full grown deer, and as pretty as a picture and as tame and friendly as a coddle lamb.

Mr. Head was away from home, but there were several children there and the family must take great pleasure in possessing such a pet.

The fact that I was born there and that my father, mother and sister spent at least three years of their lives there, gives it an added interest to me. I think that our house and clearing must have been the nearest to Kearsarge of any on that side of the mountain. When a half grown boy in one of my trips to Fryeburg I went with quite a large party of my West Fryeburg friends on a trip to the top of the mountain.

With our horse and buggy outfits we went out to Chatham, then followed an old logging road to the foot of the mountain where we tied our horses and climbed the mountain path to the summit. I should judge about three mountain miles.

Again in the summer of 1892 while visiting with my daughter at my sister's in West Fryeburg, at the Burbank home I went with Fanny and Henry Burbank by horse and buggy conveyance for we had no autos then. We drove up through North Conway to the foot of old Kier, then climbed the path to the top. Only those who have lived all their lives on the ocean, or in a prairie country can fully appreciate the grand view obtained from the summit of Kearsarge.

Returning from Mr. Head's, Henry left me at Archie Weeks' a half mile up the road. A notice on the door said "Gone berrying, will soon be home." And it was not long before Mrs. Weeks returned from her berrying expedition.

Mr. Weeks was away helping his father-in-law Dean Ballard, hay, but he returned with team and hayrack and drove out in the field and began loading a load of fodder, moved oats I believe it was. I hunted up a pitchfork and helped him to load. It was in the orchard and apples. Stayed over night and had a fine visit. Mr. Weeks has a fine family home, a large well finished house, a big barn filled with hay. They keep a lot of chickens and have a dairy herd. His family consists of his wife, nee Louise Ballard, and two small children.

A mile or so up the road I called for a day and night visit with Edwin Heath and wife. The home of the Heaths. When we were I often visited with my Uncle John Heath and Aunt Mary, his wife, nee Colby. Uncle John was a veteran of the war of 1812. He was a famous bear, fox and small game hunter, also a good fisherman. He owned a large meadow and kept a large herd of cattle. As he grew old and feeble he was succeeded on the farm by his son Jonathan and wife Kate, with whom I used to visit and late in the summer of 1886 I helped him mow and haul meadow hay for about half a month. Bear, fox and small game and trout were plenty in those days, but deer were almost unknown. The first deer track I ever saw was on the meadow, along the brook in the mud, which Jonathan pointed out to me one day.

Uncle John and Aunt Mary and John Jonathan and Kate, were laid away long years ago in the nearby cemetery. Since which Edwin and wife have been in possession of the farm. Five years ago I wrote of his almost marvelous cure of a serious stomach trouble by a surgical operation. That cure holds good, but he is badly crippled by a bad bone sore upon one leg and gets around with the aid of a crutch and cane. Mr. and Mrs. Heath are to be congratulated on the fact that they have an only son, who, with his wife, are able and willing to take charge of the old homestead farm and relieve them of their heavy task.

At the home of Hon. John Andrews and wife I enjoyed an over night visit. Their daughter, Annie, was at home enjoying her annual two weeks' vacation. John was working at his trade, that of carpenter, several miles away, and driving with his family horse and buggy to and from his work each day. John is more honest and less selfish than most men. His wife told me that all through war times when carpenters were getting from six to ten dollars a day, he only asked the same old price, $3.50 a day. He said that was enough, and he was satisfied.

At Richard Webster's, better known as "Dick," I took dinner one day. His family consisted of his wife, nee Fannie Ballard, and twelve bright, wide awake children, seven boys and five girls. The two oldest girls were away from home, one of them teaching school away out in Washington state, one of the boys and his mother were drafted for kitchen work, washing dishes, etc. They have a fine large house well filled with children and a big, fine barn which they were fast filling with hay and fodder and they are not at all bothered with the farm hand or hired girl problem.

On Monday, August 1st, I took dinner at Ray Ballard's. His family consists of his wife, nee Heath, and four boys and two girls. He has a fine home, and a big barn which he and the boys were fast filling with hay, fodder and straw. Monday night I spent with the Kelley boys and their mother and Charlie's wife and a bright eyed little kid, named James Edward, who was not there when I called five years before. In the summer of 1886 I worked for four months on the farm for Edmond Kelley. When I went there I expected to work six months but the native grasshoppers were so bad that year and did so much damage to the crops that I only worked the four months. The Kelley family at that time consisted of Isaac Kelley and wife and Sam Kelley, his brother, all old people past the working age. Edmond Kelley, son of Isaac who owned and managed the farm, married my cousin, Amanda Heath. They had four children, Mary, the oldest, 12 or 14 years of age; Annie, Jim, Ed and Walter all younger.

I have been acquainted with five generations of the Kelleys, who have owned and lived upon the old homestead of the Kelleys. First Isaac and Sam Kelley and their wives (Sam and his wife were both insane), Edmond and James Kelley (latter married my aunt, Hannah Colby) and lived on a small adjoining farm. Jim, Ed and Walter, John and Charles and James Edward, the 5th.

At Mrs. Eckley Ballard's I had a pleasant over-night visit. Mrs. Ballard has a pleasant home and so far has been a large help to her three talented daughters at or near home. Abbie, the oldest, is still holding down her responsible position at the bank. Blanche was still deputy register of deeds. Her father was register for many years and up to the time of his death, and Blanche was his deputy. After her father's death her uncle, Dean Ballard, ran as a deputy register, with the understanding that she should look after the office, and she has been deputy register ever since and I should judge by the way she attends to the office that she is the right person in the right place. Amy I did not see, she was attending summer school, the better to fit herself for her chosen profession, that of teaching.

I made several short trips to the village, called on Mr. Harriman at the store, patronized the village barber, had a few moments' chat with Deacon Andrew and shook hands for the first time with William Gordon and the same day met him on the street and stopped for a few moments' chat. He was straight as an arrow, and walked with a stammer, boyish step. I understood him to say that he was 83 years old, and he said that he could walk as well as ever he could. He had a patch across his nose between his eyes and I was told that he had a cancer there that had destroyed the sight of one eye and was threatening the sight of the other, which was to me the saddest of all sad news. My two old friends, Payson Weston and William Gordon, I did not see, for they had ceased from their labors and were at rest. I inquired for my boyhood playmate, Tap Osgood, and was told that he was at work at some hotel or boarding house in Conway or Jackson. I called at the postoffice one day and Mr. Hutchins asked me if I was the Andrews who wrote for the Advertiser. I told him yes, and he said, "Keep it up, you tell about people that I know and am interested in." A few days later I met him in front of the postoffice. Henry Andrews gave me an introduction to John, and I called him Hutchins. He said, "Not Mr., just plain John."

For the first time I visited the Methodist Burying Grounds in the village one day and hunted out Uncle John and Aunt Betsy McMullen's grave stones. I think that Uncle John and Aunt Betsy, nee Colby, lived all of their married lives in their neat cottage home, next to the fine Danna mansion on the corner, and kept student boarders when the academy was in session. In my boyhood days I often visited with them, and was always invited to visit the shed chamber and help oil nuts piled up to the rafters. After Uncle John's death, Uncle Jim Kelley and Aunt Hannah made arrangements to care for Aunt Betsy, and took possession of the home. On one of my visits to Maine I think in 1870-1 I visited New Year's with Aunt Betsy and Aunt Hannah and Aunt Hannah and I attended watch meeting at the Methodist Church that night. I think that all my mother's folk except Uncle James Colby were Methodists.

Uncle Jim belonged to the Congregational Church. I think that the Methodist Church must have been strong in its most prosperous days for the cemetery is well filled with markers and I noticed some named children upon the marble slabs and amongst them Judge Dana and Gov. John W. Dana.

A few weeks ago I read in the Advertiser that a daughter of Rev. Sewall had been visiting friends in Fryeburg and it called to my memory one night in the summer of 1886 when I was working for the Kelleys in Conway, when I was one of a company, I think of seven, who rode the Good Templars' Goat in the G. T. Hall in the village, and Rev. Sewall's daughter, Jessie I think was her name, gave each one of us the Right Hand of Fellowship and the Grip, and I wondered if this lady was not she.

BRYANT'S POND

Evergreen Temple

The following officers of Evergreen Temple were installed on February 20, by Past Chief Edith Jackson assisted by Emma Davis as G. S. and Addie Noyes as G. M.:

P. O.—Edith Hathaway.
M. E. C.—Marion Hodson.
S.—Mildred Wheeler.
E. J.—Ida Farnum.
Man.—Edith Littlefield.
M. of R.—Grace Mitchell.
M. of F.—Grace Emery.
Guard.—Bessie Miller.

As the Sister who was elected to act as protector could not serve, Sister Margaret Chase was elected to the office at the meeting of February 22nd and will be installed at the next regular meeting. An American Legion pin was presented to Sister Jackson for her kindness in acting as installing officer. Gifts were also presented to Sisters Hathaway and Johnson, in appreciation of their faithful services during their term of office. Refreshments of sandwiches, cake and coffee were served.

When we arrived at the hall to attend the regular meeting of February 22, we found it very tastefully decorated in red, white and blue crepe paper and paper bells, also shields and flags at each officer's station, much credit is due our decorating committee. After the meeting an entertainment followed. It being in honor of Washington, everyone was asked to respond, which was quite a surprise to some. A very interesting program was carried out which consisted of a wide variety composed of music, readings, quotations and story telling that caused no end of merriment. Sister Annie Bryant was given a prize for performing the best. A peanut race followed. It was great sport for the ones who looked on. Sister Deshon had the greatest number of peanuts and was given first prize; Bro. Gorden, the smallest number, was given the booby. Tables were then arranged and whist enjoyed until a late hour. Sister Lovejoy got the highest score and received a snap shot album for first prize. Sister Tebbetts having the lowest score, was given a sucker for the booby prize. Hatchets were used for favors. The sisters carried fudge and by the way it disappeared they took it for granted that it was greatly enjoyed. Everyone went home in the best of spirits, declaring the event a success and hoping for many more good times to follow.

Arthur Andrews has begun tearing down the barn he recently purchased of D. E. Bryant.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Russ, also Mrs. Ella Sweetser, have been very ill. Many others are sick with bad colds.

A very interesting program was given at Franklin Grange on February 18th. Much credit is due some of the young members who bid fair to be hustlers in later years if they keep the pace they have now started.

Carl Dudley has begun to make repairs on the James Powers house. He is to remodel it for a summer cottage. Ellis Davis and Olive Pingree recently visited at D. E. Bryant's. Alice Barden of West Paris has been spending a few days with her aunt, Mrs. Jennie Currier. Mrs. Currier is gaining rapidly after her recent operation. The people of Woodstock should be proud of the 'high school basket ball team. They have played fourteen games and have lost only one. Much praise is due to Principal Gilmore who has worked so faithfully with the boys. Mr. Gillmore is certainly a hustler and works for every interest of the school. It is hoped he will stay for another year at least. Woodstock cannot afford to lose such a man. He has the good will of every scholar which is something that many fail to have. The girls and boys alike are ready to fight if one word is said that isn't good. A principle like this the people of Woodstock will do well to consider and keep if possible.

Undwood portable typewriter now on display at Cole's Hardware Store, and Mrs. Chas. B. Harris entertained recently Mrs. A. M. Hoar, their sisters and Cherrie Toothaker, also their niece, Lucille Harris, all from Lewiston. Lena M. Felt of Rumford and Archie D. Felt of Lewiston were week end guests of their mother, Mrs. Emily J. Felt.

Frank Perkins passed away last Monday; the remains were placed in the tomb. He was a town charge and had boarded at Lewis Buck's for some time. Mrs. Charles B. Harris' Sunday school class gave her a genuine surprise party on her birthday, Feb. 22; a good time was enjoyed in games and music.

The Ladies' Aid had a supper at the Grange Hall Wednesday night and a social time was enjoyed.

All Makes Welcome

Some drivers of cars not equipped with Willard Batteries think they ought to go to the service station that sold the battery. Not at all!

The safest rule is to go to the place that gives you the best attention, has the most skilled workmen and seems to be most on the job—the place that deserves the title of "Battery Headquarters".

That's the kind of battery station we have always run and always expect to run.

Come in and we'll show you how near to 100 per cent we are in skill, courtesy and promptness.

Mrs. Grundy paints us black, Then others come and pass it back, The politicians whitewash all, The ugly guys you would see fall.

Nature paints, in spring with green, In winter, with frost's silver sheen, Earth is whitened with snow and ice, Now let us all take her advice.

Why don't you paint your house and barn? Slick up all things around the farm, Paint the wagon and other rigs, Likewise the house that holds the pigs?

Thanks, friend, for your good suggestions, We have the paint with price reductions, The quality to fill your need, Is by Wadsworth Howland guaranteed.

This paint is made of oil and lead, In colors green and tan and red, And many tints of other hue, Of white and black and slate and blue.

It helps the looks, preserves the wood And makes the old home look so good, In case with it you wish to part, It will bring much more in the mart.

Come right in and price our paint, We're sure you will make no complaint, It's priced just like before the war, You will be pleased, we'll see you are.
